

The Atlantic Estuarine Research Society (AERS) Fall Meeting for 2008 has been set for November 6-8! The meeting will be held at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia (<http://www.gmu.edu/>).

Meeting Theme: The Potomac River: Water Quality and Environmental Change in the "Nation's River"

Special Program: AERS Celebrates 60 years of Estuarine Research

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Carl F. Cerco, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

The meeting will include a keynote address by Dr. Cerco, followed by a panel discussion of the meeting theme. Panelists include:

Dr. Nancy Rybicki, U.S. Geological Survey

Dr. Norbert Jaworski, Environmental Protection Agency (retired)

Dr. Claire Buchanan, Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin

The panel discussion will be followed by scientific presentations (oral and poster) given by scientists and students from throughout the Mid-Atlantic States on a diverse array of estuarine and coastal topics.

Abstract and pre-registration deadline: September 15, 2008

Student travel awards deadline: September 15, 2008

Pre-registration fees (which include all meals during the meeting - including the banquet Friday Night!):

$75- Student Member

$95- Regular Member

$90- Student Non-member

$125- Regular Non-member

$75 - Retired Member - New for the Fall 2008 meeting!

Please visit the AERS website (www.AERS.info) for meeting details, abstract instructions and submission, travel award application details, and hotel information.

For those of you unfamiliar with AERS, it is a very student-friendly organization. We encourage student participation! Presenting at an AERS meeting will provide you with wonderful experience and feedback from local scientists on a scale not as daunting as that for national meetings.

Please print and post the attached Poster in your offices and labs! We are always looking for new members and the best way to increase membership is for you to spread the word!

AERS Conference

Written by Administrator - Last Updated Wednesday, 27 August 2008 19:34

We look forward to receiving your abstracts and seeing everyone in Virginia!