

The Potomac Basin Reporter, ICPRB's bi-monthly newsletter, discusses timely issues in the Potomac, including invasive species, trash cleanups, intersex fish, specific pollutants affecting the waterways, and many other topics. View the most recent issue of the Reporter or subscribe for free

! You may also browse archived issues of the Reporter.

The Ogilvie Library, housed at ICPRB's offices in Rockville, contains over 6,000 volumes, some no longer in print. Our library is open to the public, however, an appointment is necessary. Books, journals, and other print materials cannot be checked out, but you are welcome to use the library space to take notes. You may make copies for a nominal fee. Videos in VHS and DVD format can be checked out. To make an appointment, contact the communications staff .